Dear Parishioners,

Beginning this week, we have combined both of our individual parish bulletins into one. This change is effected to cut expenses and improve communications between Sacred Heart and St. Pio.

We have also taken steps to combine the Administrative Offices for both parishes at the Parish Center at St. Pio. All of the Administrative Functions of the parishes will be completed by the staff at the St. Pio offices including the bulletin, arranging for Baptisms and Weddings, and paying bills. See the last page of this bulletin for the numbers to call when needed. To submit articles for the next bulletin email them to connie@stpioparish.com by 9am Monday morning prior to the weekend.

Please note that the Sacred Heart Parish Office will remain open for obtaining Mass Cards on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings, 9am-12noon, and my office will still be at Sacred Heart for appointments.

Rev. Joseph Hlubik

The Infinite Dignity of Every Human Person ⁽¹⁾ (part 1)

The Vatican's declaration this past week with the approval of Pope Francis, titled Dignitas Infinita, "infinite dignity," addresses concerns of violations against the dignity of human life "with hope, confident of the power that flows from the risen Christ, who has fully revealed the integral dignity of every man and woman."

The document addresses growing concerns such as gender theory, sex changes, surrogacy, and euthanasia in addition to abortion, poverty, human trafficking, and war.

Abortion, euthanasia, and surrogacy

The dignity of the human person human dignity begins at the moment of conception, that exist in the process of procreation, and that threaten humanity toward the end of life.

It states that: "Euthanasia and physician-assisted suicide are "swiftly gaining ground" in some parts of the world, which it says is "unique in how it utilizes a mistaken understanding of human dignity to turn the concept of dignity against life itself."

"Even in its sorrowful state, human life carries a dignity that must always be upheld, that can never be lost, and that calls for unconditional respect," the declaration states. "Indeed, there are no circumstances under which human life would cease from being dignified and could, as a result, be put to an end."

The practice of surrogacy is another concern noted by the document, noting that "the immensely worthy child becomes a mere object" in the process.

"Because of this unalienable dignity, the child has the right to have a fully human (and not artificially induced) origin and to receive the gift of a life that manifests both the dignity of the giver and that of the receiver," the declaration adds.

Acknowledging the dignity of the human person also entails recognizing every dimension of the dignity of the conjugal union and of human procreation. Considering this, the legitimate desire to have a child cannot be transformed into a 'right to a child' that fails to respect the dignity of that child as the recipient of the gift of life."

Given in Rome, at the Dicastery for the Doctrine of the Faith, on 2 April 2024, the nineteenth anniversary of the death of Pope St. John Paul II. Víctor Manuel Card. Fernández, Prefect

GOD OF LOVE AND LIFE FATHER, SON and HOLY SPIRIT

“Whoever says, ‘I know him,’ but does not obey him is a liar, and the truth is not in him. Whoever keeps his word, the love of God is truly perfected in him.” 1 John 2:4-5

John, the apostle whom Jesus loved, is telling us that mere intellectual knowledge of Jesus is not sufficient. In addition we must be obedient to His commandments in a life that is conformed to the life of Jesus. This will confirm that we not only have knowledge of Jesus but also have the love of God perfected.

Disparity between moral life (that includes abortion and other unrepented sins) and the commandments proves improper belief.

Do you know that the Alabama Supreme Court ruled that the law “protects the rights of the unborn child equally with the rights of born children”. God Bless Alabama!

WHAT IS IT LIKE? - A reflection for April 14, The Third Sunday of Easter

What is eternal life? What is it like? These questions bring a variety of responses. Some people think the questions are foolish since they do not believe in eternal life. Other people suppose that eternal life is some kind of ghostly existence. Still others think that eternal life is where the good are rewarded and the evil are punished. Other people see eternal life as a place of blissful reunion with deceased loved ones. Still others picture eternal life as joining the heavenly hosts in endlessly proclaiming God's praises.

No one can be certain what eternal life is like. But at every Sunday Mass, we profess our belief in eternal life as we say, "I look forward to the resurrection of the dead and the life of the world to come" In Sunday's Gospel, we are given some understanding of eternal life. We are told that on the first Easter Sunday evening, the Risen Lord appeared to his startled disciples. At first "they thought they were seeing a ghost." But he invited them to touch him and see he was no apparition, for "a ghost does not have flesh and bones as you can see I have." He then offered them further proof of his bodily nature as he ate a piece of baked fish.

But the Risen Lord was more than just a body restored to life. He was able to mysteriously appear to his gathered disciples. Earlier in the day, two disciples had spoken with him on the road to Emmaus. They did not realize it was him until he broke bread with them. Then "he vanished from their sight."

In his Resurrection, the Lord could be recognized by his disciples, but he could remain hidden if he wished. The body he had on earth was the body that he still had in his resurrection, but it had been wonderfully transformed.

Sunday's Gospel, and the others of this Easter Season, testify to the Resurrection of Jesus and they give us some indication of what awaits those judged worthy of eternal life. In that life, we will not be disembodied souls, but like the Risen Lord we will be body and soul, changed and glorified. After all, when God created human beings, God made them body and soul and found that creation very good. Why would God now find that human body, which he himself took on in the Incarnation, something to discard?

In eternal life, we will be recognizable to those we knew on earth just as Jesus was recognized by his disciples. The loving relationship that he had with them was not ended by death—it was intensified. The Risen Lord sought them out, wished them peace, blessed them with his spirit, and entrusted them with his mission.

No one knows for certain what eternal life is like. But Sunday's Gospel indicates that it is where loving relationships are deepened, and life marvelously continues body and soul.
