From the Desk of Fr. Joe:

From a homily on the Body and Blood of Christ by Pope Benedict XVI

...There is an apparent discrepancy in the Evangelists' accounts, between John's Gospel on the one hand, and what on the other Mathew, Mark and Luke tell us.

According to John, Jesus died on the Cross at the very moment when the Passover lambs were being sacrificed in the temple. The death of Jesus and the sacrifice of the lambs coincided.

However, this means that he must have died the day before Easter and could not, therefore, have celebrated the Passover meal in person - this, at any rate, is how it appears.

According to the three Synoptic Gospels, the Last Supper of Jesus was instead a Passover meal into whose traditional form he integrated the innovation of the gift of his Body and Blood.

This contradiction seemed unsolvable until a few years ago. The majority of exegetes were of the opinion that John was reluctant to tell us the true historical date of Jesus' death, but rather chose a symbolic date to highlight the deeper truth: Jesus is the new, true Lamb who poured out his Blood for us all.

In the meantime, the discovery of the [Dead Sea] Scrolls at Qumran has led us to a possible and convincing solution which, although it is not yet accepted by everyone, is a highly plausible hypothesis. We can now say that John's account is historically precise.

Jesus truly shed his blood on the eve of Easter at the time of the immolation of the lambs.

In all likelihood, however, he celebrated the Passover with his disciples in accordance with the Qumran calendar, hence, at least one day earlier; he celebrated it without a lamb, like the Qumran community which did not recognize Herod's temple and was waiting for the new temple.

Consequently, Jesus celebrated the Passover without a lamb - no, not without a lamb: instead of the lamb he gave himself, his Body and his Blood. Thus, he anticipated his death in a manner consistent with his words: "No one takes [my life] from me, but I lay it down of my own accord" (Jn 10: 18).

At the time when he offered his Body and his Blood to the disciples, he was truly fulfilling this affirmation. He himself offered his own life. Only in this way did the ancient Passover acquire its true meaning.

In his Eucharistic catecheses, St John Chrysostom once wrote: Moses, what are you saying? Does the blood of a lamb purify men and women? Does it save them from death? How can the blood of an animal purify people, save people or have power over death? In fact, Chrysostom continues, the immolation of the lamb could be a merely symbolic act, hence, the expression of expectation and hope in One who could accomplish what the sacrifice of an animal was incapable of accomplishing.

The Lamb and Temple

Jesus celebrated the Passover without a lamb and without a temple; yet, not without a lamb and not without a temple. He himself was the awaited Lamb, the true Lamb, just as John the Baptist had foretold at the beginning of Jesus' public ministry: "Behold, the Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world!" (Jn 1: 29).

And he himself was the true Temple, the living Temple where God dwells and where we can encounter God and worship him. His Blood, the love of the One who is both Son of God and true man, one of us, is the Blood that can save. His love, that love in which he gave himself freely for us, is what saves us. The nostalgic, in a certain sense, ineffectual gesture which was the sacrifice of an innocent and perfect lamb, found a response in the One who for our sake became at the same time Lamb and Temple.

Thus, the Cross was at the centre of the new Passover of Jesus. From it came the new gift brought by him, and so it lives on for ever in the Blessed Eucharist in which, down the ages, we can celebrate the new Passover with the Apostles.

From Christ's Cross comes the gift. "No one takes [my life] from me, but I lay it down of my own accord". He now offers it to us.

The paschal haggada, the commemoration of God's saving action, has become a memorial of the Cross and Resurrection of Christ - a memorial that does not simply recall the past but attracts us within the presence of Christ's love.

Thus, the berakah, Israel's prayer of blessing and thanksgiving, has become our Eucharistic celebration in which the Lord blesses our gifts - the bread and wine - to give himself in them.

Let us pray to the Lord that he will help us to understand this marvellous mystery ever more profoundly, to love it more and more, and in it, to love the Lord himself ever more.

Let us pray that he will increasingly draw us to himself with Holy Communion. Let us pray that he will help us not to keep our life for ourselves but to give it to him and thus to work with him so that people may find life: the true life which can only come from the One who himself is the Way, the Truth and the Life. Amen.

Spiritual Adoption Please spiritually adopt an unborn baby. Every day over 4,000 babies are killed by abortion. They have so little protection only the hand of God can end this massacre. Prayer is the best weapon to help them - the most effective. Say this prayer daily for 9 months to save a baby's life:

*Jesus, Mary and Joseph, I love you very much.
I beg you to spare the life of the unborn baby that I have spiritually adopted who is in danger of

GOD OF LOVE AND LIFE FATHER, SON and HOLY SPIRIT

"He received them and spoke to them about the kingdom of God, and he healed those who needed to be cured." Luke 9:11

Jesus worked miracles to demonstrate His power over evil. For He came into the world "that He might destroy the works of the Devil" (see 1 John 3:8). In addition to His miracles He spoke about the kingdom of God through the Gospel.

The Gospel, the Good News, is God's saving plan. We are to repent and believe in it. Additionally, we are to proclaim it to the world. Proclaim God's love, proclaim life and pray for those who destroy life that they repent and believe in the Gospel

Do you know that Heartbeat International has saved over 6000 babies lives with the abortion reversal pill.

Live in the Spirit, Live Life, Vote Life

A CONTINUING MIRACLE A reflection for June 22

If we were asked what gospel passage is read during Christmas Mass, we would answer: a reading about the birth of Jesus in Bethlehem.

If we were asked what gospel reading is proclaimed on Easter Sunday, we would immediately reply: one about the resurrection of Jesus.

If someone were to ask us what gospel is read this Sunday, The Solemnity of the Most Holy Body and Blood of Christ, we would most likely respond: a reading recalling what Jesus did at the Last Supper, how he changed bread and wine into his very Body and Blood.

However, that is not the case. This Sunday's Gospel (Luke 9:11b-17) is about Jesus miraculously feeding a crowd of thousands with only the five loaves and two fish given to him by his Apostles.

We hear how Jesus took the bread and fish, said a blessing over them, broke them, and then gave the food to his disciples to distribute to the crowd. At the end of the meal, there was more bread and fish left over than there had been at the start.

Jesus' actions of taking, blessing, breaking, and giving parallel his actions at the Last Supper. As St. Paul tells us in our Second Reading (1 Corinthians 11:23-26), "the Lord Jesus, on the night he was handed over, took bread, and, after he had given thanks, broke it and said, 'This is my body that is for you'... In the same way also the cup, after supper, saying, 'This cup is the new covenant in my blood.'"

These actions also correspond to what happens at every Mass. Bread and wine are presented and placed upon the altar. They are blessed during the Eucharistic Prayer as the priest calls upon the Spirit to transform them into the Body and Blood of Christ. During the "Lamb of God," the "bread" is broken, and then the ministers distribute this life-giving food as we come forward to receive Holy Communion.

During Mass, we behold a miracle far greater than that witnessed by the thousands who were fed with five loaves and two fish. We witness a miracle that began 2,000 years ago at the Last Supper and has continued to our day. Bread and wine are still taken, blessed, broken, and given. In receiving them, we become a Holy Communion with Jesus Christ, the Son of God, whose Body and Blood we are privileged to share.

"Therefore, O Lord...grant that we, who are nourished by the Body and Blood of your Son and filled with his Holy Spirit, may become one body, one spirit in Christ" (Eucharistic Prayer III).

This Sunday's Solemnity reminds us of the wondrous miracle that happens before our eyes at every Mass.

Prayer after Communion Dear Lord, I give You thanks for the gift of the Sacrament of the Eucharist. And through my confession to You, I am strengthened in my desire to reject sin and obtain Your gift of obedience. Please let the Holy Spirit stay with me and remind me that You suffered on the Cross in order to nourish us with Your Body and Blood. Let me remember that I hope to receive eternal life and Your grace through communion. I need this to keep Your love, peace and true joy in my heart. I thank You for letting me grow in Your love through this blessed sacrament, so I can show that love to others. May Your body and blood continue to renew me, in God's name I pray. Amen
